BIO 202 Module 1: Circulatory System
Medical Terminology Gui

About This Collection

The medical terminology course at ASU Mid-South prepares the next generation of health care workers, building foundational knowledge through modules like BIO 202 Module 1 on the circulatory system and BIO 201 covering human anatomy and physiology. Resources like CareerCatalyst presentations and AMT 3rd Edition materials support learning, while certified clinical medical assistant programs integrate practical application. Students explore structure, meaning, and usage of medical terms, working with prefixes, word roots, and suffixes to decode complex language. Whether studying for CCMA certification or expanding scribe skills in anatomy and physiology, learners gain essential terminology for medicine. The course offers online college credit through platforms like Studocu and StraighterLine, with transcripts and syllabus guides helping students navigate requirements.
