Market Conditions for Perfect Competition

Homogeneous products	Large audiences
A large number of sellers produce and sell an identical product or service. Example: Everyone sells the same soap to a village. It's the only soap available.	Many buyers are on hand to purchase the product. Example: Everyone in the village uses the same soap.
Information transparency	No entry barriers
Buyers have perfect information. All the information they need to make purchase decisions. Example: The soap comes with a complete breakdown of ingredients, costs, and sourcing information.	Businesses can enter and exit the market freely. There are no start-up costs or legal restrictions. Example: Anyone in the village can start or stop selling the soap.
